

Introduction to Zero Waste Online Class - Fall 2020

Zero Waste USA is offering its Introduction to Zero Waste Class three times this Fall at a special price.

This class is a prerequisite to the Zero Waste Associates certification course to be offered online in Spring 2021.

Introduction To Zero Waste

Interested in learning how Zero Waste has become a key component of community and business sustainability efforts across the US and the globe? Want to know more about the connection between Zero Waste and climate change, social justice and green jobs as well as the benefits to businesses pursuing Zero Waste? Curious about Zero Waste planning and infrastructure as well as community and business certification? This lively interactive class is for you!

Lead Instructor
Richard Anthony
Zero Waste USA

Co-Instructor
September 4th
Amanda Waddle
Zero Waste
Gainesville

Co-Instructor
October 2nd
Christienne de Tournay Birkhahn
Berkeley Zero Waste
Commission

Co-Instructor
November 6th
Jamie Kaminski
Zero Waste
Canada

Live online instruction
4-hour class, $50
8am to 12pm PST

Same content all dates
(register for one):

- Friday, September 4
- Friday, October 2
- Friday, November 6

This class is a prerequisite to the Zero Waste Associates certification program to be offered online in Spring 2021.

Participants who attend the class and pass the open-book online exam will receive a Zero Waste USA certificate of completion.

Register at:

www.zerowasteusa.org

Register today at the special price of $50
Group discounts and two-for-one scholarships available as appropriate.
www.zerowasteusa.org/training/upcoming/